You'll never forget your baby's first breath
or your next mammogram.

promise to me.com

It brought a smile to your face. And a tear to your eye. In a single, magical moment you became a mother and fell in love. It was instant and complete and no emotion could rival the way you felt as you heard your baby's first breath, looked into your first born's eyes, and realized you had created a new life, a new love, and a new place for yourself in the world. Mom.

Now it's time for you to share the love and help save a life — by making the promise to take care of yourself. And spreading the word to all the girlfriends in your life who need to take care of themselves by getting a mammogram now.
